Tuesday, February 3, 2015
Strategic Networking Workshop
6:00 PM - 7:30 PM
This event doesn’t solely focus on how to get your dream job, but rather explores the tips and tactics necessary for success once you land it. Babson’s Center for Women’s Entrepreneurial Leadership Scholars (CWEL Scholars) present a career panel about the do’s and don’ts of your first year on the job.

Thursday, February 5, 2015
Disrupting the Status Quo (San Francisco campus)
6:00 PM - 8:00 PM
Women tell it all, TED Talk-style.
Networking & Refreshments included.

Thursday, February 12, 2015
Oil, Patriarchy, and Female Labor Force Participation
12:00 PM - 1:30 PM
Despite the rapid rise of women’s education and the fall of fertility rates, women’s participation in the labor markets of Middle East nations remains low. This paper argues that one reason, among many, is the joint impact of oil and patriarchal institutions.
Wednesday, February 25, 2015

BAW MBA Women in Technology Dinner

TBD

RSVP required

Join Babson’s Association of Women MBAs (BAW MBA) for an evening featuring successful women in technology.

Tuesday, March 3, 2015

Nan Langowitz Women Who Make a Difference Award

1:00 PM - 2:30 PM

Sponsored by the Center for Women’s Entrepreneurial Leadership (CWEL), this annual award honors women whose work has had a significant, positive impact on the Babson community in the last year.

Wednesday, March 4, 2015

Sustaining the Planet and Its People: Sustainable Farming is Key

5:00 PM, Olin Hall 120

All welcome, refreshments to be served

This presentation begins with a look at the global and local impacts of unsustainable farming practices in the tropics. It then focuses on Sustainable Harvest International’s unique and successful model for reversing this harmful trend. The talk goes on to show how this simple approach helps to alleviate poverty, improve health, reverse deforestation, mitigate global climate change, reduce pollution, and much more.
Thursday, April 2, 2015
The Unseen Militant: Women and Extremism in the Contemporary Middle East
12:00 PM - 1:30 PM
This presentation will focus on the complex role of women in the formation of extremist movements in the contemporary Middle East exploring some of the actual writings of these often-unknown feminine subjects. Poetry of Taliban wives and daughters, and that of women rebels and insurgents throughout the Arab world included. Provocative and elaborate set of voices emerge from these turbulent frontiers, compelling us to resituate our image of Middle Eastern women at the heart of major ideological and creative struggles.

Wednesday, April 15, 2015
Hands-On Negotiation Workshop
6:30 – 8 PM
Join the movement to close the wage gap via this interactive, skill-building negotiations workshop facilitated by Babson’s own Donna Sosnowski.

Thursday, April 30, 2015
Resiliency Workshop
2 to 4 PM
Decompress before finals with this interactive, stress management workshop. Healthy snacks will be provided.