Introducing...

Seniors, you have managed to maneuver your ship out of the harbor with its treacherous reefs and many channels. Now you are confronted with the broad ocean where you are not guided by lighthouses; where you do not have the assurance that land is within calling distance. Now you must learn to make new acquaintances and adjust yourselves to new environments. No longer are you practicing; you are at the helm. Does this mean that you forget your friends her at Babson? Are you only to be concerned with the ends which you have achieved? To help you remember the means by which you achieved these ends, to help you remember the landmarks along the harbor, and to help you remember your fellow crew members, the 1956 BABSONIAN is being presented. Take it—receive it with pride—it is the final chapter of your education. Consider it the log in which is entered the treasured memories of your sail.

Foreword...

The 1956 BABSONIAN is attempting to give a report on the progress and growth of the Institute. To compile a complete report would require several editions. Thus it is only possible to cover the highlights of a momentous year in the hope that at some future date these personalities, pictures, and words may serve as a stimulus to the memory in recalling years here at Babson Institute.

Within the leaves of this volume may be found the students, organizations, faculty, and administration—the inspiration and purpose for this work.

Also respectively enclosed within these covers may be found some of the traditions of the Institute which have come to have such an integral part in the atmosphere of college life.

The men who are pictured in this book are not only men who are striving for education—they are the future of America.

Around the Institute
Those who lead now during this preparation for life must continue to be the bulwark of this country in times to come.
These halls of learning hold much more than can be derived through the content of our textbooks.
Of major importance to the students is one course in which no homework is assigned and no grade is given. This course is the art of living with one's self and neighbor and the realization of the value of a religious life. Mastery of this subject entails the application of principles and ideals learned through education and practice.

Throughout this book one fact stands forth: the astonishing expansion made by this institute of higher learning since its foundation in 1919. This practice has been especially rapid during the past few years. With her roots strongly imbedded in the firm foundation of the past, Babson Institute will continue to prove its greatness as it moves forward in its drive for progress and growth.
Babson men obtain their education from famous lecturers and by observing business in action on field trips as well as from classes and books. Finally there arrives that great moment.
portrayed in chapters;
There is a time in every man's education when he arrives at the conviction that envy is ignorance; that imitation is suicide; that he must take himself for better, for worse, as his portion; that though the wild universe is full of good, no kernel of nourishing corn comes to him but through his toil bestowed on that plot of ground which is given him to till. The power which resides in him is new in nature and none but he knows what that is which he can do, nor does he know until he has tried.

Dedicated to...

In the spirit of true appreciation we dedicate the 1956 BABSONIAN to you, Colonel John N. Hahn—instructor, benefactor, and friend.

We are proud to have had you as our advisor for our three years here at the Institute. We are proud that we could be associated with a man who gave willingly his time and effort, a man whose home is never closed to his friends, his students.

As we steered our ship through the channel, you were all around us. You were the helmsman who kept us moving by way of enlightenment in the classroom; you were the lighthouse that kept us away from hidden dangers; you were the buoy that told us when to turn and in which direction; you were the power that kept us from stopping. Now we face the broad sea. We are leaving our pilot, lighthouse, buoy, and power behind for the next ship. No longer will we be able to rely on your seeking us out to give us that much-needed advice. But even though we are going to be without you, we will be much richer than we were three years ago.

We have been set on our course and as we leave the channel for the open sea of life, we look back and wave a "goodbye" and most important of all, an appreciable "thanks."

FOUNDERS' MESSAGE

(Taken from an address by Roger W. Babson on Founders' Day, 1955)

"God bless you all. You are facing marvelous opportunities. But don't forget these three basic principles of success: Religion, Patience, and a Desire to Create rather than to ride on what others have accomplished."

Roger W. Babson
Grace K. Babson
FOUNDERS' DAY

Annual recognition of our distinguished Founders has been accorded a place of honor. Indeed Founders' Day is a day of honor for Mr. and Mrs. Babson; the day on which the largest of their three schools of higher learning shows what it has accomplished in the field of education.

This year Mr. and Mrs. Babson witnessed part three in the customary three part program for Founders' Day. The three parts are Babson's Reports, Business Statistics Organization, and the three Colleges.

Of principal interest to this year's Founders' Day audience was Mr. Babson's address. Directed to the Student Body, the address was heartily acceptable and was flavored with Mr. Babson's best brand of humor. Basically, the address focused on forms of judgement which might prove valuable to the student. Religion took a fore part; Mr. Babson told of how it was impossible to put too much emphasis on the sustaining and rewarding powers of Faith in God. In connection with a characteristic of faith, Mr. Babson stated that humble attitudes and a willingness to start small with an eye to becoming one's own boss, would pay dividends.

Following the address, flag presentations and the school gift, the Babson Hymn was sung and Founders' Day '55 became a page in the book of valuable memories.

Gentlemen:

Congratulations to each one of you for a job well done!

Graduation could mean the burning of your bridges behind you but it can mean the expansion of the Babson spirit by accepting your Alumni Association's warm welcome.

Sociability and fellowship await you at the meeting of the thirty local alumni clubs, located from Maine to Florida—from Massachusetts to California. Wherever you dwell, you will not be far from an active Babson group.

Now, you have a kinship with over 3,000 alumni living in all the forty-eight states, the territories of Hawaii and Puerto Rico, and twenty-four foreign countries; they are as close to you as your Alumni Directory.

The Alumni Bulletin will keep you posted on campus highlights and alumni activities; in order to receive this information, your only responsibility is to let Alumni Office, Lyon Hall, know where you are.

Warm personal regards to each of you from all of us. We are looking forward to being with you often in the future as well as following your steady progress in the business world.

Sincerely,
John A. Perkins '46, President
Babson Institute Alumni Association
Gentlemen:

Now that you have come to the end of your college program, and are about to be awarded the degree of Bachelor of Science in Business Administration by Babson Institute, I want to tell you how proud we are of you as a class and how interested we shall be to hear of your future successes in the field of business. We have worked together for three academic years, and have profited much from the ideas and attitudes which you brought to the campus and which you have developed while students here. It has always been a firm conviction with me that a college is a living, fluid organization, and every year I find confirmation in the calibre and maturity of the graduating class. For this I find in retrospect that the college is on a sounder footing financially, academically, cooperatively, and spiritually than when that first graduating class first entered the doors of Babson Institute. For your contribution in making Babson Institute strong, I want to express the appreciation not only of myself but also of the faculty and staff who have enjoyed working with you over the last three years.

As you go out into the business world, I hope that you will remember that Babson Institute is your academic home and place where many of the happiest hours of your life to date have been spent. The sum of all your days at Babson can never fully be told, for a college education like any similar period of intellectual, emotional, and spiritual development is a long range investment whose final profit no man can imagine nor accurately predict. We believe that you have a firm foundation in the techniques of business. We hope that your character has become molded along lines of integrity, good craftsmanship, and liberal thinking. We are proud of our product and we believe it can compete successfully with the product of any similar institution in the world.

Good luck to all of you in your enterprises, and remember that the latch-string is always open at Babson Institute.

Sincerely yours,

DEANS

DR. JOHN D. MONTGOMERY
Dr. Montgomery is the Dean of the Faculty and the Chairman of the Department of government and law. He joined the faculty at Babson in 1946 and has since been enlightening the students with his bits of wisdom which are based on an extremely intellectual background. The Student Body is indeed happy and grateful to have the opportunity to benefit from the experiences of such a distinguished scholar.

EVERETT W. STEPHENS
Mr. Stephens is the Dean of Students and Director of Personnel and Placement. He is the first representative of the school one meets during orientation and he is the last person one does business with before he leaves the Institute. The excellent counseling ability of the Dean of Students is always available to those who may need it.
DEAN AND REGISTRAR

DR. WILSON F. PAYNE
Dr. Payne is Dean of the Graduate School. Before coming to Babson in 1937, he experienced work in the practical aspects of finance and investments. Under Dr. Payne the graduate program has grown considerably and plans are being made for further expansion. Students in the division of finance and investments will long remember Dr. Payne's lively lectures.

PAUL C. STAAKE, JR.
Mr. Staake is the Registrar and Director of Student Activities. Possessed with a friendly personality and a sincere wish to help the students, he is one of the most popular members of the faculty. Mainly through his efforts the student activities at Babson Institute have reached a stage of diversification that is indeed comparable to an institution many times its size.

THE SENIOR CLASS OF 1956

The Senior Class of '56 found its members holding leading positions in the campus fraternities and clubs. The officers worked hard with the members of the class and accomplished numerous undertakings.

Successful "I.A.'s" and completed courses were in the background as they approached June and they waited for the day that they started on their own. Throughout the year social gatherings—dances and parties—became part of the last year. Becoming a Babson Institute Alumnus is the first port reached after leaving the Institute. Now that the class is setting sail on the sea of new endeavor, they become part of a new life in business and family striving and giving their best for a happy and successful life.

TIME PASSES ON...

Introductions, the unpacking of trunks, the hustle and bustle of bewildered men in a new surrounding—this was the formation of the Class of 1956.

In a short time the class spirit and interest was shown; something that has gleamed throughout our three years at Babson. Class elections were held, and we were led through the first year with the following men as class officers: Art Wilson, President; Stew Stokes, Vice-President; Don Heath, Secretary; and Dave Prince, Treasurer. With a great deal of pride and respect, the Class chose Colonel John N. Hahn as our faculty advisor.

Our freshman year found us busy being instructed in basic business courses and a fine line of liberal arts. The members of the Class enjoyed these new experiences, and working together the Class completed a very fine and admirable record.

Returning for our junior year with spirit and enthusiasm high, we settled down to what proved to be a successful year scholastically and socially. Endless help from the Babson Faculty contributed to the success of the year. Our junior officers with the help of Colonel Hahn planned many successful dances and parties which were enjoyed by the Student Body. These will be remembered and treasured among our memories.
The junior class officers were: Robert Williams, President; Stew Stokes, Vice-President; Don Heath, Secretary; and Dave Prince, Treasurer. These men together with Colonel Hahn and the section representatives led the Class to the end of a fine year ending with the choice of our major field.

We appeared on the scene in September, 1955, to complete our last and final year. We were now on our own "honor system" as well as many other class benefits such as parties, planning for our graduation, the Class Gift, and the yearbook. The officers for our final year were: Nick Wentworth, President; Bud Johnson, Vice-President; Jesse Putney, Secretary; and Dave Prince, Treasurer. Days that became weeks and months were happy ones. They culminated our three years of undergraduate work. We, the Class of 1956, leave Babson Institute where new friends were made, where an excellent academic enlightenment was obtained, and where we grew three years older.

Now as we leave school and set sail in life, we hope to contribute our talents toward making a better life for the world, and at the same time, to secure success and happiness for ourselves.

FIRST YEAR GRADUATE STUDENTS

In 1951 Babson Institute founded a Graduate Student Program. The underlying purpose of this program was to allow graduates of liberal arts colleges to obtain an intensified course in business administration. It also provides members of Babson undergraduate program and other business college undergraduates advanced courses in their field.

Dr. Payne was appointed to the position of Dean of the Graduate School because the School had grown with leaps and bounds. The Graduate Student Body numbers fifty-eight this year. The enrollment has been doubling each of the last three years.

At the end of one year’s work for B.S. degree holders and two years for A.B. degree holders, a Master of Business Administration Degree is awarded.

ARMY PROGRAM

The Army Program at Babson has now entered its second year. After a study of the courses and facilities offered by various schools of business administration, the Army Ordinance Corps selected Babson Institute to train officers in courses in advanced management. A full eight terms are included in the program.

The eight officers who began the course in July, 1954, will graduate this year. Five of them will receive the degree of Bachelor of Science; three will receive the degree of Master of Business Administration. The previous education of these men varies from one year in college to four years at the United States Military Academy at West Point. Those now holding Bachelors Degrees will receive their M.B.A. at the completion of the program; those who do not hold undergraduate degrees may earn them by taking the required liberal arts courses, here at Babson or at some other school.

This year there are eighteen officers from the Ordinance Corps and one from the Quartermaster Corps. Colonel Meyns is co-ordinator of the program.

Freshmen

In September more than two hundred new faces could be seen roving about the Babson campus. The class of '58 had made its debut. For most of the students it was a new experience away from home. They were on their own to do new things and to accomplish new goals. The Freshman class is well represented by South American students as well as students from Australia, France and Denmark. Shortly after the first term was on its way, the students elected a student council representative and an alternate to represent each of the six sections in the Student Council. The path was paved for their opinions to be voiced by the student government.

During the year, the freshmen made marketing field trips to Sears Roebuck, Star Markets, and to other large local concerns. Many lecturers came to increase the new students' outlook on the business world. By the concrete interest that has been shown, the class of '58 will be an asset to Babson.

Officers: Richard Buckley, President; (seated) Craig Klocker, Vice-President; Neil Abrahamson, Treasurer; James Buschini, Secretary.

The junior class ventured forth in 1956 under the auspices of the Class Council. The cooperative functioning of this body was placed in the hands of Bob Lutz, president; Ron Grolljahn, vice-president; Art Samuels, secretary; and Bob Jackson, treasurer. The Class Council consisted of Dave Bjornson, Joe Deffrari, Ed Hamilton, John Russell, and Jack Woods. Weekly meetings were held to conduct the Class.

The annual class party was a huge success. It was held in the V.F.W. Hall on January 28th. The well-planned affair proved to be one of the best in recent years.

Members of the Class of '57 will long remember the traditional junior courses as well as the social life. Another page has been turned in the book of Babson Institute memories.

CLASS OFFICERS: Standing: Art Samuels, secretary; Bob Jackson, treasurer. Seated: Bob Lutz, president; Ron Grolljahn, vice-president.

In July 1955, Mohamed Embaby and Soliman M. Kandil set foot on the Babson campus. On Founder's Day, Soliman Kandil presented Babson with a flag of his native land, Egypt. He told the student body that the Egyptian government was subsidizing many students to go abroad to study. They are the first Egyptian students to go to Babson, and they show much promise for success. While here, they have participated in many activities that will benefit them a great deal. After finishing their studies at the Institute, they will resume their government posts in Cairo. It is hoped that many more men like Soliman and Mohamed will have the opportunity to study at Babson.
A man, to have friends, must be a friend. This process is speeded by organization.

The purpose for which Blue Key National Honor Fraternity is established may best be described by the Preamble to the Official Code, which reads in part:

"Students problems may be studied, student life may be enriched, and the progress and best interests of the institutions in which the organization is found may be stimulated and promoted."

Blue Key consists of a group of student leaders in American colleges and universities devoted to such service. Its members are chosen on the basis of leadership in scholastic and student affairs, good character and personality.

Blue Key has undertaken many projects during this past year. The most important of which was the conducting of all Student Council and class officer elections. Promotion of the Official Babson Chair and a program whereby Babson Students recorded text book material for the benefit of blind students in the area have also been accomplished, along with many worthwhile projects.

Alpha Delta Sigma, the pioneer fraternity on the Babson campus, had a most exceptional and active year.

During the school year the fraternity enjoyed a series of interesting meetings at which several outstanding personalities from the field of distribution were featured as guest speakers.

Other highlights were the successful pledging periods in the fall and winter terms, the widespread extension of the Robert J. Murray Memorial Advertising Competition—now recognized as New England's outstanding collegiate advertising promotion—and the fine job done by the Chapter in the annual Presidents Cup Competition.

Hearts were warmed by the annual Christmas party for underprivileged children from the Peabody House—Mr. Confield, our advisor, acting per usual as Santa.

Socially, the Fraternity's annual semi-formal dance was most successful and was heralded as the best dance of the year. Other events and informal get-togethers promoted brotherhood and pleasant memories. The dixieland concert held at our first open meeting started off the social functions of the year with a bang.

The executive council played a most outstanding part in the success story. President Chuck Johnson—aided by Don Bolster, Bill Huberlie, Charlie Fitzgerald, and John Dobbins—led the course we followed during the year. Many things are recalled at this time and memories which this year has brought shall be etched on the walls of progress . . . never to be forgotten.
With the opening of school in September, Alpha Kappa Psi began its best year of activities. Our goal was delineated by Brother President Prince early in the Fall Term; the best chapter in Alpha Kappa Psi Fraternity and on campus. We are happy to report that results have exceeded expectations.

Highlights of Fall Term activities included the annual Phoenician Ball which was held this year at Boston's Hotel Statler.

The Alpha Kappa Psi-sponsored field trip to the New York Stock Exchange, the American Stock Exchange, and the brokerage firm of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beanne, received favorable comments on the part of those in attendance. The administration, also, expressed their gratitude by hoping that we will make it an annual affair, which we shall.

Two dinner meetings were enjoyed at the 1812 House and the Hampton Court Hotel. Eleven new brothers were initiated on December 8, 1955.

Winter Term activities began with an open meeting on January 25th, 1956, the first dinner for the brothers was held.

The success and growth of the chapter was due in great part to the efficiency of its officers: David Prince, President; Paul Clark, Vice-President; William Walker and Donald Zelle, Secretaries; and Richard Krupke, Treasurer.

The Gamma Upsilon Chapter of the International Fraternity of Delta Sigma Pi enjoyed a very active and interesting year of professional and social activities.

Under the able leadership of President William C. Cleworth, the Chapter planned and carried out various educational and social functions. In the fall, the Brothers and their dates attended the Harvard-Bucknell football game which was followed by a cocktail party at President Cleworth's home. A joint dinner meeting with the Gamma Chapter of Boston University was held at Science Park Museum commemorating the founding of the International Fraternity. Our own Mr. Carpenter served as toastmaster, doing an excellent job in making the evening an enjoyable one.

During the winter and spring, a professional program including movies and speakers were heard discussing the problem of modern business.

CLUBS
The Student Council elections yielded four very good officers of the student body. Stew Stokes will go down in Babson history as one of the most successful student body presidents the school has ever enjoyed. The other officers—Bill Walker, vice-president; Dick Hilt, treasurer; and George Jones, secretary—also deserve a great deal of credit for the success of the year.

Babson society suffered a great loss with the resignation of its social chairman, Walter White, but his successor, "Whitney" Hall looks very promising.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Cabinet, which is composed of the presidents or other student leaders of all campus organizations, meets whenever a problem calling for consideration by the whole group arises. Meetings are called at the invitation of the Director of Student Activities, or at the request of any of its members, at which time the President of Blue Key presides.

Its purpose is to foster extra-curricular activities in general, and to further the interests of the various organizations on campus by mutual cooperation in problems of organization, selection of club meeting time and places, and joint efforts to finance activities.
The principal objective of the 1956 BABSONIAN is to be published on time. The motto was, in fact: "TO PUBLISH ON TIME FOR A CHANGE."

The production of an annual starts to make progress about one year ahead of the publication date. During the year, a staff must strive to meet deadlines and deal with the impossible. On this page are shown many of the staff members, but the most important part of the staff cannot be included in one photograph. That important part is the student body. Without their excellent cooperation, the book could not be published.

There are certain people not in pictures on this page that should be thanked for their help. They are Charlie Johnson, artist, Wally Peck, photographer, and Jim Dolan, senior historian.

the following week in The Beaver. In case of exact duplication of winning answers, the first entry in will be awarded the ring.
AVIATION CLUB

The Babson Aviation Club was formed in 1953 for the purpose of discussing and studying flying techniques. In 1954 it purchased a plane of its own and became incorporated under the laws of the state. It has since sold the old plane and purchased an Aeronca Champ, which is hangered at the Westboro airport.

In this past school year the club has been extremely active, with several hundred air hours being logged. A good many of the men have received their licenses. Club meetings have been especially interesting, with many air-force training pictures being shown. We have also had flight instruction to aid for license test.

Officers for the past year have been: President, John Dobbins; Vice-President, Edmund Murray, Jr.; Secretary, John Sanderson; and Treasurer, Milton Magee, Jr.

COSMOPOLITAN CLUB

The Cosmopolitan Club was organized in the winter of 1953 by a group of foreign students with the desire to strengthen the relationship between American and foreign students as well as among the foreign students themselves. Through its activities, it is the aim of the club to foster broader understanding of the customs, languages, economics, and politics of the homeland of its members.

Regular meetings which are held twice each month, include guest speakers and discussion of various topics of international interest. Other activities comprise representation on the Council of Colleges and Universities of the International Students Association, dancing, and dinners typical of the various countries. Many meetings and activities are held jointly with comparable organizations in the various colleges in the area.

All students with interest in International affairs, or in becoming acquainted with peoples of other lands are cordially invited to become members of the Cosmopolitan Club.

Officers: Lafayette K. Morgan, Jose A. Leon, Juan J. Garcia, Bruce G. Brackett, Morikazu Akiho.
The Dramatics Club's main function is the presentation of the Winter Carnival Play. This year's play, "Ain't Like Sin", by Al Floyd and Wallace Peck, was presented at the Wellesley Junior High School Auditorium. The success of the play was due to sustained, fruitful endeavor on the part of the entire club membership. Zacher played the male lead, Wallace Peck played a difficult teacher impersonation, and Bill Hubelie, Joe Gaber, Bruce Kullman, Martin Samuels and Rod Mallory gave excellent performances in the supporting roles.

This year's stage crew, headed by E. J. Bleiler, as usual gave their all in the set construction, lighting, and mechanics of good stage procedure.

The other club members are: William McMeekan, Richard LaPlant, Bill Horwitch, Bob Karlin, Ray Tomagini, Henry Gordon, Ricardo Uribe, "Skip" Irving and Tom Morganstern.

Club hierarchy is listed: Producer-director, Wallace Peck; Technical director, William McMeekan; Stage manager, Edward Bleiler.

Other club activities included the supplying of talent for the Wellesley College production of the "Madwoman of Chaillot," and entertainment at a Veteran's Administration Hospital.

Girls were supplied for "Ain't Like Sin" from Lasell Junior College and Pine Manor Junior College.

GLEE CLUB

The Glee Club, after a successful return to the school year, showed great promise during the Fall Term under its capable leader, Mr. John Hicks. The group made a fine showing on Founder’s Day, and its two selections were very enjoyable and worthy of high praise.

In the Fall Term, the "Wallstreeters," a small select harmony group, was formed. After hard and diligent practice it received the honor of singing at the Wellesley Christmas Festival, and was very well received.

During the winter term however, both interest and attendance dropped. Immediate action will have to be taken if this organization is to remain on campus. Naturally, a successful Glee Club requires much time and effort, and on these two factors hinges its future.

The Babson Photography Club has been growing steadily since its re-organization one year ago. The Club is the chief source of photographic work on the campus, helping organizations like the BABSONIAN staff.

One of the outstanding things accomplished by the Club is the building of their new darkroom in the basement of Coleman Hall. The five-room work place was completely designed and built by the members of the Club.

There exists an excellent opportunity in the Photography Club for students to practice their present hobby or develop a new one. The technical advisor to the Club is Mr. Glen Stauffer. The officers are Bill McMeekan, president; Wally Peck, vice-president; and F. C. Irgang, secretary-treasurer.

The big question is—Who took this picture?

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

Proud of their new darkroom are Bill McMeekan, Norm Robbins, "Skip" Irgang, and Wally Peck.
The Veterans Club, formed in 1952, has been very active this year. The Club has arranged this year and others the ever vital Red Cross Blood Drives. A new activity was successfully carried out by the Club this year called "Project Ivy Limb." Its object is to make the campus a more attractive place for the mutual enjoyment of the student body and visitors to the school through the group effort of all the Vets Club members. On "Ivy Limb Project Day" this year, the members of the Club trimmed and cleared the pine grove located along the walk from Park Manor South to Lyon Hall. The Club hopes to make this project an annual affair.

Future projects include organizing entertainment groups for hospitalized veterans' and children's hospitals in the Wellesley area.

Operation "Project Ivy Limb"—The Vet's Club performs a great service to the Institute.
This was the first year for the Bridge Club on the Babson Institute Campus. "Rome wasn’t built in a day," and neither was the Bridge Club. Its founder, Bill Walker, has made a great deal of progress with his Sunday evening get-togethers.

For some time unorganized Bridge has been played in the dormitories quite successfully. Where it is such a common pastime, it makes for a great deal of enjoyment when the men get together in competition. The Club is still in its early stages, and it is at this time that there is a dire need for stick-to-itiveness on the part of the members. It is here that Bill Walker has performed his greatest service to the club.

Management has risen to a professional status and is now applied with a scientific method. Its importance must be recognized by every businessman and prospective businessman. It is with this principle as a theme, that the Babson Institute Chapter of the Society for Advancement of Management has given service to the campus through the years. This year's able president, Francis Smith, was assisted by Peter Quinn, vice-president; Roberto Escobedo, secretary; and Donald Bradley, treasurer.

In order to "get the student out of the classroom and textbook," many field trips, guest speakers, and industrial films were provided to the members. Field trips enable the members to view the latest production methods where they are afforded the opportunity of discussing various problems with top-management.

The importance of S.A.M. lies in the fact that its members begin to think along the lines of management, and to make the most out of their business education through practical experience.

THE SOCIETY FOR ADVANCEMENT

Field trips to local plants give the members a chance to observe management in action. The visitors are given the various inside stories of the plants.

Speakers from large companies and management associations often visit the meetings thus providing for further practical study in the field of scientific management.

What Price Your BABSON EDUCATION

The program at Babson Institute leading to the Bachelor of Science degree in Business Administration is planned to meet the needs of men who desire, at the same time, both a substantial college education and special preparation for a business career. While professional subjects receive major emphasis, they are balanced with more general studies which broaden the student's background and increase his capacity to meet the problems and responsibilities of citizenship in both business and private life.

During the first two years, emphasis is placed on such tool subjects as ACCOUNTING and STATISTICS, and on those basic principles and functions of PRODUCTION, DISTRIBUTION, and FINANCE which underlie and motivate the control and organization of all business activity. Thus, the student is equipped to think and to adjust himself to the varied opportunities and responsibilities confronting most men during a successful business career.

The student's first step is to fill out his application. Each applicant is interviewed by the Director of Admissions.
The classroom takes on the atmosphere of a Board meeting.

It's that first view of the campus that makes up many minds.

As usual, there is a great deal of confusion at orientation time.

Books are the student's most valuable friend.

BUT THE SET OF THE SAIL
Opportunity is provided during the third year for the student to specialize in any one of the six major fields: Accounting, Distribution, Economics, Finance, Investments and Production. Thus, his program may include 18 term-hours of specialized work in the particular field of his individual choice.

The subjects in liberal arts are distributed throughout the three years. All along the way, specific business courses are balanced by studies in cultural fields which should be familiar to educated persons as individuals and as citizens in a free society. These cultural subjects include English, Speech, Economics, Psychology, Government, History, Philosophy, Logic, Ethics, and Science in Industry.

God has his place in the business life.
The Chapel is a favorite spot.

All learning is not in the classrooms or the textbook.
Business does not function in a vacuum. Today it has to operate in the midst of social and economic complexities where science, language, government, economics and ethics are continually entering into daily problems. The professional and personal contacts involved in a successful business career are certain to confront a man eventually with situations and problems which require, to deal with them effectively, a broader background than is afforded by an education in business subjects alone.
Rascals are always sociable, and the chief sign that a man has any nobility in his character is the little pleasure he takes in others' company.

ATHLETIC COUNCIL

There is more to sports than simply participation in athletic contests. Teams must be organized, equipped and coached; games must be scheduled, officiated and scored; rules and policies must be formulated. These latter activities are the administrative side of sports and in intramural athletics, the administrative organization is the Babson Institute Athletic Council.

Each dormitory and each off campus class is represented on the Athletic Council. The Council makes all decisions regarding the intramural program. The Punchbowl, the goal of intramural sports, is won only after successful competition in football, golf, basketball, tennis, softball, swimming, badminton, and other sports. In the course of this competition it is natural that differences of opinion arise with respect to policy and interpretation. It is one function of the Council to settle these differences and to formulate rules and policies which will make for a smoother, more efficient operation of the program.

In addition to his duties as a member of the Council, each member serves as a dormitory or off campus director of intramural athletics. As such, it is his responsibility to organize teams to represent his men. Frequently Council members accomplish this by delegating the responsibility for organization and coaching of individual teams to other students, so that a number of men are actively engaged in the administrative aspect of the sports program.

All intramural contests are officiated by members of the student body. In many cases, members of the Council volunteer to accept officiating assignments and so contribute to further the athletic program. The Chairman of the Council is responsible for assigning officials.

Membership on the Athletic Council serves two purposes. First, it insures that Babson men will get the intramural sports they desire. Second, and of equal importance, it provides an opportunity for men to perform administrative functions which in many respects parallel those encountered in business.

Soccer has become one of Babson's most popular sports.

This was the first year of soccer here at Babson, and from the interest and participation that was shown it appears that soccer will become a more predominant sport in Babson inter-collegiate Athletics. The game has filled the need for a fall team sport with the ability to create interest.

The first practice brought quite a mixed group out; those who had played in school, those from other countries, those who had some experience, and those who had never played. Out of this sorted crew Dick Thomas molded Babson's first soccer team of organized inter-collegiate stature. The team got off to a slow start by losing the first two games, however, the experience gained in the two games was evidenced by the dispatch with which they felled Boston University, Brandeis, and Bradford Durfee.
Actually, the best game of the season was lost. It was the second game of a home and home series with Bridgewater State Teachers College. The game was rough, fast, and spirit ran high throughout. The score was all tied up towards the last part of the game when Bridgewater scored. Babson continuously pressed for a tying goal but lady luck seemed to have forsaken us. As the whistle blew signaling the end of the game Babson was punching through for a shot at the goal. The team was in the position that often means the difference; the clock was a little ahead of the play.

Another close one, was the game at New England College in New Hampshire. Babson won two to one; the circumstances were the same as Bridgewater except that we were on the winning end of the clock. Only one goal was needed to end the game in a tie, but goal keeper Dolan, with a little blessing from above, staved off the opposition.

The Institute had a nine game schedule with a four-four-one record. This is not bad for a start. Quite a few letter men are graduating this year and will be missed; namely, Azpura, Arenas, Barco, Dolan, Louis Pineda, and Uribe. The remaining nucleus consists of Carroll, Escobedo, Feoli, Gutt, MacCall, Moncada, Rey, Rincon, Rosenthal, and Krall.

Babson Institute had one of its best basketball teams in its history, winning 13 games and losing only 4. The Beavers played a hard and fast game and most teams had trouble stopping the powerful “Green and White” offense as they rolled up an average of over 78 points a game, three times during the season hitting the 100 point mark. Babson could move the ball easily, crack any defense thrown against them, and had a great variety of shots and plays. It was a team that Babson can be proud of.

The only dark mark for the year was that Babson was not able to win the Greater Boston Small College Conference title for the third consecutive year and retain the trophy. The Babsonmen were defeated in overtime by Burdett College 85-77 and again by Burdett, 58-57, at the Boston Garden.
Coach Dick Thomas had his complete team returning for the 1956 season. Early in the season, the team had to be re-shaped because of some of the players becoming scholastically ineligible. Co-Captain John Dolan, playmaker of the Babson squad and top defenseman, was back in his guard position. The other guard position was again claimed by Dick Lavin, the Beaver’s “little man” and back-court artist. Bob Namian, returning from last year’s squad, moved to the center spot. Bob kept the baskets flying from under the boards.

Two new-comers, also very much responsible for Babson’s fine record, were Gerry Schexman and Dick Kirschbaum. Schexman, formerly of the University of Cincinnati, became one of the forwards. He was the set-shot artist for the Beaver’s as well as the high scorer, averaging better than 20 points per game. Freshman Dick Kirschbaum won the other forward position and was the top rebounder in the Conference, during 1956. Paul Flanagan at 6’5” was a strong reserve player for the Beavers. Other members of the squad seeing action were Bob Carroll, Ralph Brown, Steve Britt, Gary Lloyd, and Bill Pearson. All of these men are Freshmen and will be returning next year.

The basketball schedule will be completely revised for 1957, as Babson will leave the league and tackle stronger opponents, including M.I.T., Clark, W.P.I., and others. Babson will be losing its Co-Captains John Dolan and Dick Lavin, and also Paul Flanagan. However, a very strong team can be seen for next year and an excellent season is anticipated.

Assisting the squad during the past year were Earl K. Bowen, Athletic Director; Joe Nadolski, Trainer; Dick Kozacko, Manager; and Jim Ferris, Timekeeper.

Hockey got under way at the beginning of the Winter Term with a series of practices held either at the Cambridge Skating Club at the refreshing hour of 6 A.M. or later in the day at the Boston Arena about 11 P.M. The team had five of these practices in preparation for the Lehigh game, the first of an eight-game schedule.

Lehigh scored during the first and second periods leaving the score at 0-2 until Paul Hersel cut the score in half and Bob Dietrich tied the game at 2-2. At the end of the second period Lehigh exploded two goals within a minute, leaving the score 2-4 going into the third period. Peter Meals cut down the difference and Captain Putney scored the tying goal with a shot from the blue line in the last of the third period. The numerous shots slapped at the nets during the Lehigh game began to pay off against Worcester Tech. The Babson team clicked with its passing and the shots at the goal were crisper, as is indicated by the final score of 10-1. George Yorks, the goalie, played a great game, and missed a shut out in the last seconds of the game due to a deflected shot. Hersey, Meals, Abbe, Drinkwater, MacGillivray did the scoring.
Babson played Wesleyan in the first game of a home and home series Friday of the Winter Carnival Weekend at the Lynn Arena. Wesleyan moved ahead in the first period by scoring first, and maintained an antagonizing one point lead through the game. John Abbe drew first score for Babson in the second period, with McCarthy, Meals, and Captain Putney following suit in the third period to make the final score Babson 4, Wesleyan 5.

As this is written the last game played was with Merrimack College. Babson took an early lead on two goals by McCarthy, but lost the lead at the end of the second period as Merrimack took the lead 2-3. Fast skating and heads up playing accounted for another goal in the third period, but this was not enough to top Merrimack and win. The final tally, 3-4.

The potential of the team this year is far greater than in the past, and the last half of the schedule should show better results. The squad consists of Abbe, Ditrich, Drinkwater, Ellis, Hersey, Lasker, MacColl, McCarthy, MacGilivray, Morrill, Captain Putney, Witridge, Von Rosenvinge, and York.

WITH OTHER COLLEGES

Spring, birds, bees, golf—all synonymous words. With the coming of the spring term, all hopeful golfers at Babson stick their heads out of the windows, sniff the glorious, fragrant air, and then proceed to journey out to the nearest links. Passions, cooped up for the winter are then expended at the expense of grass divots and lost golf balls. But out of this haze step six golfers, all members of the Babson golf team. These six make up a selected crew which journey far and wide to play such opponents as Colby, Bates, Dartmouth, and Boston University.

Dick Lavin

Last year’s team was made up of Waldo Pratt, Sven Tilly, Bill Rogers, Jim Ferris, Pete Meals, and Gary Nagle. Only Nagle fails to return so the prospects for this year are indeed bright. The vacant spot has many hopeful tenants-to-be, but outstanding are the finalists of the intramural golf tournament, Al Car and Dave Bjornson. The greatest chance to occupy the vacated slot however seems to lie with Gordon Hagenauer, a member of the team two years ago.
Like the golf team which had five of six returning from last year's regulars, the tennis team has lost but two members of its predecessor team by means of graduation. Pratt, Croosdaile, Lavin, D. Watson, and Kullman are the returning lettermen. There are many new hopefuls for the spots left open; among them are Ferris, Hosler, MacColl, and Bjornson.

Last year, despite the fact that the won and lost record was not particularly impressive, the team showed definite spirit and signs of improvement. Perhaps the outstanding highlight of last year's team was the doubles work of Jack Croosdale and Waldo Pratt. These two netmen were undefeated as doubles partners, and their return should indeed bolster the hopes for a good year. With many varsity lettermen returning and impressive newcomers trying out, the team should definitely improve its record.

During the fall sailing season the racing team was plagued by the loss of many of its top sailors. With the result being that Bob Bowden, Tom Green, and Art Goerss skippered in most of the varsity meets. Tryouts were held for the freshman team and several very able skippers were selected.

The recreational sailing program was furthered by the addition of a new boat, bringing the fleet to four

Tech Dingies plus an outboard crashboat. The interest in afternoon sailing was increased with the advent of having female skippers from the neighboring womens colleges. Co-ed races were held with the girls coming in first on many occasions. Their lighter weight of course being the reason for this.

INTRAMURAL SPORTS
Unlike last year when Park Manor South won the punchbowl by the end of the basketball season, the race this year has been much closer. It has developed into a two team contest between Bryant Hall and last year's champions. With just five events remaining, Park Manor South holds a slim lead of only twenty-five points. The remaining events are badminton, pool, golf, swimming, and softball. Third place in the standings goes to Publishers-Coleman with Park Manor North and Park Manor occupying the fourth and fifth spots respectively.
INTRAMURAL FOOTBALL

Bryant Hall and Park Manor South engaged in a thrilling race for the intramural football championship this year. It was the second consecutive year that these two teams completely overpowered the rest of the league, and for the second time the final decision went to Bryant.

After both teams had swept through the season without a loss, Bryant defeated South on the final day of the season, 20-2. The main nucleus of the Bryant team consisted of Patterson, Putney, Flannagan, Lown, McGrath, Meals, and Barrett. This charging team proved the downfall of all opponent's offenses. On the other hand their own offense, sparked by McGrath and Meals, was practically unstoppable.

South's only consolation to their defeat was a post-season tie with the above mentioned Bryant team. The individual stars of the team were Rouillard, Namian, and Hersey.

The intramural football championship next year should be a wide-open affair. Four of the six starters for Bryant are graduating and many of the South mainstays are also leaving. This reduces these two perennial powerhouses so that the league next year should be one of balance, excitement, and spirit.

"Enthusiasm Plus" is the term for Intramural Football
Many exciting games are played in the intramural program.

From out of no-where came the Bryant Bombers to win the 1956 Intramural Basketball Championship with a surprising 42 to 38 defeat over the Diamond-Fisher Associates, more commonly known as Park Manor North. Bryant had definitely been the underdog all season.

Early in the season it appeared to be a race between Pubmen, Park Manor North, and Park Manor South. South was the hardest team to beat; they had height in "Boss" Ferris, Bob Hasler, and Bill Lenoci, plus a powerful scoring nucleus. The Pubmen had a good team featuring the off-campus Juniors. North was strong this year led by the "retired" varsity men. Bryant jumped into the play-offs and succeeded with the help of Pete Barrett, Bill Kendrick, Ed Reid and others in upsetting highly rated South.

1956 has been a very exciting season for intramural basketball.
INTRAMURAL SWIMMING

This year the swimming program has been changed. The meets are now on an all-campus basis. Every dorm will now compete in every meet. With the advantage of having one of the finest pools in the East, The John E. Millea Swimming Pool there is a great deal of interest in this very exciting sport. In the past the tankmen from Park Manor have made a habit of winning the championship, but this year Bryant Hall looks forward to giving them a good fight. At the end of the year the Ewart Trophy will be awarded to the swimmer obtaining the greatest number of points in meets.

No, these are not the coaches! Teams are practicing for a very competitive season.

Form is perfection.
For the second straight year Park Manor South captured the bowling title. However, the race was close and the eventual winner was in doubt throughout the season. South started quickly but cooled off a little and just did manage to hang on to edge a fighting Park Manor North team. South's final point record was 13 won and 3 lost.

Regular bowlers for the team were Dave (Take your time) Woodbury, Howie (Slowball) Furman, and Jim (Gutterball) Ferris. Alternates were A. Tobia, P. Grillo, C. Decas, N. Giard, and M. Littman. The team's best bowler was Woodbury.

With everyone of the above mentioned team returning next year, the chances are that South will again be on top, but only time will tell. The immense enjoyment derived from an evening at the "Bowling Green" assures a large turnout for each match, and with excitement and pressure constantly present, anything can happen.

Where is the Babson Darkroom? That is a common question. Very few students take advantage of Babson's new darkroom in the basement of Coleman Hall. The facilities were completely designed and built by the members of the Photographic Club for the use of its members. This year the project was completed and deserves a great deal of praise.

"I hate Christmas!"

She was seven years old, and really not big enuf or strong enuf to hate so hard. She lived at the Rebecca Pomeroy Settlement House in Newtonville, and everyone agreed this was a fine orphanage. But Christmas is particularly hard on orphanages.

We had picked them up at the Settlement House that afternoon and arrived at the Fo‘c’sle right on time.

No sooner had everyone arrived, than the brotherhood immediately greeted the kids with a hearty verse of “Jingle Bells”—everyone joined in on the chorus, and the party was off to a great start.

Then Santa Claus (who sounded much like Brother Canfield) waddled merrily over to the Christmas Tree where he began ho-hoing and unloading the loot from his bag. From the expressions on the kids you would have thought they were getting a 1956 Eldorado Cadillac—and I guess maybe to them, they were.
SPECIAL EVENTS

After the presents had been opened, a hearty game of musical chairs ensued with a prize going to the best girl and boy chair getter. This was followed by cartoons and refreshments, and it was time for them to leave.

Watching them put on their coats and hats, most of us felt pretty much in the Christmas spirit. Then the seven-year old spoke up: "I just love Christmas!"

Yes, this was truly the Christmas spirit.

ALPHA DELTA SIGMA
On Tuesday, November fifteenth, the Stock Exchange Field Trip took place under the sponsorship of ALPHA KAPPA PSI. The trip was open to all seniors and graduate students majoring in finance or investments.

Under the leadership of Dr. Frederick Harrison, forty-seven men observed the operations of the New York and American Stock Exchanges and were shown through the offices of a large brokerage house.

ALPHA KAPPA PSI has been proud to have sponsored the revival of the Stock Exchange Trip, and confidently expects that it will become an annual affair.
THE FIRST BABSON CONVOCATION

On Thursday, January 12, a Student Council Assembly was held in Knight Auditorium. The topic was a discussion of Training in Humanities of Liberal Arts vs. Training in Business Administration, as a background for a career. Presented by president of the Student Council, Stewart Stokes, were Dr. John E. Burchard, Dean of Humanities at M.I.T. defending his stand and our own Dr. Edward B. Hinckley who undertook the defense of Babson.

The committee planning the Assembly consisted of Dr. Hinckley, Robert E. McWalter, Stewart Stokes, Richard P. Beck, James L. Kiley, and Irwin M. Krohn.
FROM YOUR EDITOR...

There comes a time in every man's life when he enjoys the privilege of being able to serve his immediate society.

A college publication is a component of that undefinable force called "spirit." The editor of an annual is proud of his component as is the football captain of his. There is a great deal of incentive provided by the knowledge that the work of production will result in the ability of a proud alumni to boast a high-grade annual as a selling point of its alma mata.

When, finally, the yearbook is in the hands of its readers, the editor enjoys a sense of accomplishment. I find that I cannot enjoy that satisfaction until I have publicly thanked those "unsung heroes" who were so necessary to the publication. The first and most deserving is Mrs. Edna MacWhorter who acted as a secretary, messenger, and counselor to your editor. Next are the photographer, The Warren Kay Vantine Studio, and the publisher, The Vantine-Delmar Publishing Co.

Others deserving thanks are the Student Body, the Photography Club, the Babsonian Staff, the faculty and the administration. Two faculty members should be especially thanked—Mr. Earl K. Bowen, the faculty advisor to the yearbook, and Colonel John N. Hahn, the faculty advisor to the Senior Class.

The editor proudly presents the 1956 BABSONIAN to you, its readers. Take it with pride; from you it emanated.

Can you wear these shoes?

If you can, there is unlimited opportunity for you at Owens-Illinois! These shoes are available because the graduate who wore them yesterday has gone on to greater things in our company. And he is now preparing to take the place of the man who moved on before him!

He found that there was plenty of room to develop in fields such as sales, engineering, production, accounting, advertising and merchandising. A great satisfaction was derived from the knowledge that his was a stable company because of its great diversity of products and its research and development programs that were continually adding new ones.

Many advantages were his through being associated with a company of outstanding reputation and prestige. He found, too, that Owens-Illinois is a young man's company, eager to reward young men able to contribute to the development and marketing of new products. He found that military status had no bearing on his eligibility.

If you should be employed by Owens-Illinois you would discover these same things. You would begin an individualized training program with which your supervisor would keep close touch. You would find ever expanding opportunity in a company whose yearly sales are in excess of $350 million, a third larger than in 1950. And somewhere, in our organization of 46 sales branches, 30 manufacturing plants, our Technical Center, Duraglas Center or national offices you would find a future and build your career.
