FOREWORD

Within these pages is our attempt to capture a part of the year 1962. We are general in our reference, for the major feeling that affects 1962 cannot be claimed entirely by the graduating class. It is part of a tradition that affects every class, and it belongs to everyone. The spirit of a class and a year is an elusive thing to capture, but we have tried. The pictures and situations experienced are a testimony to Babson and will continue to live on. The yearbook is more than just the record of events, the senior class, and extra-curricular activities. It is the embodiment of our college years and a memory of a life. We hope that these pages have accomplished our purpose.
To the Members of the Class of 1962:

The first looking over of this edition of the Babsonian will, I am sure, be a pleasant task. However, after showing it to sundry friends and relatives it will be put aside and almost forgotten. I say almost — but not quite forgotten. At odd intervals, sparked by some chance remark or word of a former classmate, you will pull it off the shelf and find yourself going over it once more with even greater pleasure than the first time you looked at it. What is more, this will become increasingly true as your graduation date sinks farther into the past. The yearbook remains a tangible link between you and Babson Institute. The real link, however, is one forged during your years as a student here. Like the yearbook, this link is not something you think about every day, but it will be the force which will make it a real pleasure to browse through this book from time to time. It is my belief that the years recalled will prove to be among the most fruitful in your development as a mature and useful member of society.

You will have been told many times and by many knowledgeable people that this is a period fraught with great danger and at the same time one filled with abundant opportunity. I suspect that to a considerable degree this has always been the case for those alert to the dangers that beset them and willing to search out the opportunities which do indeed exist but which seldom jump up and bite you.

When you entered the Institute you were anxious to learn, else you would not have come or, having come, successfully earned a degree. By now you must have recognized that this learning is a never-ending process. To stop learning is to die. Our task has been to strengthen and develop this process to the point that for most it can continue without the need of further formal education.

On behalf of the faculty and administration, I wish you all success in the further adventures which await you. May you look back to your years at Babson with pleasure and satisfaction and to the years ahead with confidence and determination.

Henry A. Kriebel,
President
Each year, the dedication of a yearbook poses a problem to its staff in the consideration of the basis for the nomination. The editors of “The Babsonian” have decided that this yearbook should be dedicated to an individual who has displayed great interest in the student and his problems, as well as in the development and furtherance of Babson. For us, the choice was not difficult. We take pleasure in dedicating “The 1962 Babsonian” to Dr. Henry A. Kriebel.

Before coming to Babson Institute, Dr. Kriebel had a wide and varied background of experience. He was graduated from Lehigh University in 1932 with a B. S., and he went on and received his M.A. in 1937. In 1951 he received his Ph.D. from Columbia University. Prior to his association with Babson he held the position of Instructor at Cedar Crest College and at his Alma Mater. From 1942 to 1945 Dr. Kriebel served as Accounting Officer at the Naval Air Material Center in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. He has been an active member of the National Association of Accountants, and served as National Director for 1961-1962.

Babson has felt the influence of Dr. Kriebel since he first became associated with the Institute in 1946. He first served as Chairman of the Accounting Division, and in 1957, he became Dean of Faculty. His manner and ease in the classroom soon captured the respect and admiration of the student body, and his workings for the improvement of Babson brought him the recognition that he well deserves. In 1961 Dr. Kriebel was elected to the office of President of Babson Institute. We appreciate the interest that marks him as a leading member of a progressive administration. But most of all, we are grateful for his friendship. “Thank you, sir.”
Babson is witnessing a period of rapid change and progress. Physical growth is apparent all around us, and the great advancement in research and educational practices can be felt. Plans for the new Gordon M. Trim Dining Hall have been drawn up and a campaign launched to produce the necessary funds. Also, the curriculum is constantly being revised and brought up to date with new courses. These programs are being coordinated by an enthusiastic and far-sighted administration. An administration that is interested in the students and listens to what they say is a benefit to education.

Administration
Board of Trustees Meeting

Board of Trustees
Although working in the background, the Board of Trustees continually strives for a better Babson. The distinguished members of the Board are all specialists in their fields and together they accomplish the momentous task of administering the Institute's many facets. The Trustees' basic task is to formulate the underlying policy of the College and to maintain the affairs of the Corporation. Their greatest function, however, is to add the initiative and vitality that are so important to a growing educational institution.
President
HENRY A. KRIEBEL

Dr. Kriebel has been president of Babson Institute since his election in 1961. His achievements in the worlds of accounting and education are matched only by his warm and generous personality. A man of many interests, President Kriebel finds time to pursue not only civic responsibilities but also his many hobbies.

A native of Pennsylvania, Dr. Kriebel has a wide and varied background which includes the navy, teaching, and a broad education. He first came to Babson in 1936 and since then has become an integral part of the College.

President Kriebel possesses an interesting personality and a singleness of purpose; his prime goal is to encourage greater effort in scholarship and research. He stands for effective leadership and academic progress at Babson Institute.

As occupant of the College's highest administrative office, President Henry A. Kriebel supervises and directs the school's educational policies and academic programs. Even with the pressing duties of administration, the President finds time to teach courses and give his personal attention to any student seeking his advice.

“Plant the seed of curiosity, water with wisdom and knowledge, reap the harvest of education.” —Anonymous
The problem of educating a large, heterogeneous group of students from all kinds of backgrounds is a major problem encountered by faculties of educational institutions. For each class, they must spend long hours preparing and revitalizing the material to be covered. This great task becomes secondary in the light of an even greater attempt: the will to satisfy the hungry minds of the learning. With this goal, the educational process is made challenging and rewarding.
DEANS

Dr. Wilson F. Payne began his association with Babson in 1937.

Dr. Mors, Dean of Faculty, first came to Babson Institute in 1948.

Dean Payne, like Dr. Mors, received all his degrees from the University of Chicago. Besides his duties as Dean of the Graduate School, Dr. Payne still finds time to teach.

Dr. Wallace P. Mors became Dean of Faculty in 1961. He received his Ph.B. from the University of Chicago in 1933. Dean Mors also received his M.A. and his Ph.D. at Chicago.
Dean Stephens received an Honorary Doctorate of Education from Calvin Coolidge College in 1961.

Dr. Genovese is the Director of the Evening School.

Everett W. Stephens, Dean of Students, received his A.B. in 1936 from American International College, and his A.M. from Hartford Seminary Foundation. Dr. Stephens also did Graduate Study at Boston University. He has been a member of Babson Institute since 1946.

Dr. Frank C. Genovese came to Babson in 1955. He received his B.A. at the University of Toronto, and his Ph.D. at the University of Wisconsin. Dr. Genovese is a teacher of economics.
ACCOUNTING

To a Freshman, Accounting is an insurmountable obstacle placed in the curriculum by a wicked administration for no other purpose than torture. He is placed in the black abyss of the accounting room and surrounded by hungry balance sheets, snapping debits and credits, and assignments that are Herculean tasks. All Juniors face the evils of Statistics with curiosity and fear. It is a course that ruins cumas, morales, and finger nails, not mentioning its failure to produce a “system for Wonderland or Monte Carlo.” Some Lucky Juniors face advanced accounting, a course somewhat less feared, equally difficult, and the Rover Styx for Accounting majors. Seasoned Seniors face taxes, cost accounting, and auditing with thoughts that they should have been management majors.

The rulers of this inferno are far from the orgies they appear to be to Freshmen. As successive years pass the instructors seemingly become more and more humane. Their office doors are always open, and their specialized training is at the disposal of their students.
The end of the term is always heralded by the appearance of clean-shaven, smartly clad Juniors, nervously clutching attaché cases and diligently concentrating on their about-to-be-given spiel in the lobby of Lyon Hall. Other marks laying their foundations in the Distribution Department are the late hours and frantic rush prior to the ad deadline, the worried Senior wondering what interesting things he can tell about a dull summer job, and the over-cute slip from skipping one too many marketing lectures. The Distribution major is subjected to the entire process of goods for market by lists, actual experience, movies, lectures and books. Augmenting interest in the course are the free samples given out by a benevolent lecturer, and the trips with happy salesmen.

Glowering over the unsuspecting in distribution, is a faculty armed with whips and instruments of persuasion used to induce customers into selecting and buying products they do not want. Through careful guidance and instruction these weapons and their usage are entrusted into the hands of the Distribution Department majors.
FINANCE AND INVESTMENTS

Hours of drudgery go into the analysis of various forms of a company’s position. The result is a sweat-stained paper from which the finance teachers make their fortunes on the side. Not without benefit, the student learns the full gamut of business activities including real estate and insurance. The learned professors lift the veil of mystery surrounding the object of interest known as the stock market and impart their vast accumulation of experience and wisdom to the budding magnates.

Freshmen face finance with fears that rival accounting, but as the three years pass it becomes more palatable and at times even enjoyable. Artfully presented, the finance courses rank among the most important at Babson.

Legend of the infamous Management and Production Department reaches the Freshmen long before the school year commences. Wonderous tales of ten minute finals, true-false questions, and Coleman basement conjure up visions of a Valhalla on earth. The realization of these myths is even more wonderful than the visions. Lurking behind the merriment, however, is a creature named Knowledge who, despite prevailing conditions, implants a good deal of his product into the minds of the learning. The outcome is a student with a solid background in management and production techniques plus the ability to meet and solve new situations.

Masterfully controlling the balance between fun and learning is a staff of unusual and talented teachers, each highly trained through schooling and personal experience. School would be quite boring without the delight of the Management Department.
LIBERAL ARTS

Babson men exist in a state of nature that is "culturally barren," according to certain adjacent feminine institutions. It is therefore, the task of the Liberal Arts Department to span the gulf of ignorance and open the doors to light. By a series of valiant stands the goal is slowly attained with much blood and sweat from both sides. Use of two syllable words, footnoted passages, and books are only a few of the arts that must be mastered in the culture quest. The student is submerged in a vast divergence of subjects ranging from history to speech in an effort to humanize him. A measurement of the valid accomplishments under this department cannot be shown through marks; only the actions of the individual throughout life will tell.
Subjecting the student to horrors seemingly worse than a Poe tale is a variety of professors in all sizes, shapes, and styles with backgrounds as diverse as the subjects. Each student is offered the complete utilization of these backgrounds, and it is hoped that he will take full advantage of the opportunity. Few students leave Babson without the mark of some Liberal Arts professor deeply imbedded in his skull.

The Liberal Arts Program is designed to augment and complete the business education by maintaining the balance between a specialized and a diversified world. It aids the student in developing his capacity to think and even more important, it enables him to investigate and understand life and to take his place in the society of today and tomorrow.
Extra-Curricular activities supply an outlet for the student's energies, creative abilities, and administrative prowess. They augment the educational process by adding interest and providing a relief from studies. Beyond the fun of extra-curricular activities lies an intangible asset called character. This is perhaps the greatest thing that can be gained through participation, and its cultivation is of prime importance for the development of the well-rounded individual.
“The spoken word, engulfed by the wind is lost forever. The written word remains, as a mover of men.” —Anonymous
The publications are almost entirely student run, and provide opportunities for work in almost any area from photography to advertising. For the officers, the greatest part of it is layout, writing, and general management of an organization that is really a small business. It is time-consuming, sometimes tedious, and usually thankless. And yet, through it all, there can always be gained a feeling of accomplishment when the final product is realized.

Publications
The Board of Publications is composed of the editors and managers of the Exec and the Babsonian. The Board is responsible for selecting the executives for the following year. Each member has been active in Publications and has done outstanding work for his organization. As a governing body, the Board of Publications forms the policies and aids in the solving of operating problems of the member publications.
Mr. Hubert A. Mann contributes advice and counsel to the Babsonian in the capacity of Administrative Advisor. Mr. Mann is a member of the Distribution Department's faculty and is an excellent guide on financial and organizational matters.

Gerald Powers, Director of Publicity for the Institute, is directly responsible for making the Institute known to the Public. He is also invaluable to the publication staffs in giving his excellent advice and use of his material.

Every Student publication, no matter how often it appears, reflects the attitudes of the editors and staff. Therefore, yearly change of personnel invariably produces change in the tone and style of the publication. A conservative element must in some way regulate the ingenuity and creativity which are manifestations of an editor's efforts. This conservative element is achieved by the presence of the administrative advisors, whose interested direction is an integral part of every Babson publication.
Bruce W. Barren, Editor-in-Chief of the 1962 Babsonian, is directly responsible for the mammoth task of recording all phases of life at Babson. To produce a successful publication, he must not only secure adequate coverage of all school events but must weld these events into an appealing history. This year, Bruce has been successful in producing a dynamic and inspiring yearbook.

Robert N. Snyder, Managing Editor of the 1962 Babsonian, is second in command on the yearbook executive board. He is responsible for the organization of the yearbook, its day-to-day operations, and serves as a liaison between the editor-in-chief and the several staffs.

The members of the staff composing “The Babsonian” devote much of their free time throughout the school year in compiling and publishing the yearbook. From September to late Spring, the staff strives to ensure that every phase of Institute life is represented in the forthcoming edition. At its issuance and in subsequent years, this book will serve to remind students and graduates of Babson of the many activities and experiences enjoyed as undergraduates and graduates.
Barry Brice Bisbee, Associate Editor of the 1962 Babsonian, is responsible for the literary achievement of the yearbook. His vast knowledge of prose coupled with a quick wit has made the Babsonian interesting, stimulating, and memorable.

The financial affairs of the 1962 Babsonian are the direct responsibility of Business Manager Ronald Rosen. He is responsible for advertising, publicity, and for budgeting all yearbook expenses.

All photographs contained in the 1962 Babsonian are the responsibility of Photography Editor, T. Morgan Carr.

As sports editor of the 1962 Babsonian, Allen B. Gluck combines his limitless knowledge of Babson athletic achievements with his talents at the typewriter. Michael D. Feldstein, Layout Editor of the 1962 Babsonian, is responsible for "what and which" goes "where and how."
During its year of publication, the “EXEC” has endeavors to release itself from the parochial bonds that customarily shackle it. In its role as a campus conscience, international and national items of interest have been added. A series various reports on interesting subjects concerning campus problems and items pertinent to all college students. Under the direction of the Exec staff, the newspaper has risen to a place of importance and interest on the Babson Campus.

Editor-in-Chief Paul Dean has extended himself to the utmost to put out a newspaper worthy of the campus. The result was a new and different publication that soon became an item of intense student interest. The new EXEC has succeeded in its purpose and has taken its place as the student's spokesman.

Robert Rieser, as Managing Editor of the EXEC, coordinated and managed the relations between the editors and the various staffs. As next in command, Bob's responsibility in managing the daily affairs of the EXEC were many.
The Business Manager of the Exec, Bob Maxey, is in charge of financial and general affairs of the paper. It is through his office that the paper is able to function on an efficient basis.

The Layout Coordinator’s duties entail the fitting and integration of material into their proper places. Bruce W. Barren served the Exec in this capacity.

Frank Fischer, Advertising Manager, is in charge of selling and procuring advertising for the paper. Advertising is the blood of life for any publication.

A telegram was received by the editors of the Babson parody issue EXIT, after its release at Winter Carnival. It was signed by the Editor-in-Chief of the NATIONAL INQUIRER, and contained offers of vast wealth and infamy if the Babson products would only consent to become associated with their enterprise. The EXIT rivaled the INQUIRER’S sale to such an extent that the newspaper felt it could no longer exist without consolidation and elimination of the strong competition. Babson Editors Patterson, McKnight, and Cutter felt however, that the material and scandal prevalent on campus provide more interesting and needed work than the national scene. Their edition of the EXIT will go down in history as the finest exposé paper ever conceived.
“The office of government is not to confer happiness, but to give men opportunity to work out happiness for themselves.”
—Channing
The purpose of a student government is to make rules acceptable to the administration and to give the students the opportunity at self-government. The organizations and clubs provide the same opportunity on a small level. A combination of the two groups working together enables the student body to take an active part in the affairs of the school and to be drawn closer together.

GOVERNMENT and CLUBS
STUDENT CABINET

It is very fitting that the President of the Student Cabinet should be Descom D. Hoagland III. This body of the Presidents of all organizations, was presided over by a man who is an excellent example of a campus leader.

The Student Cabinet is a unique body on the Babson Campus. Just as Student Government is representative of the students, the Student Cabinet is representative of the campus organizations. The Cabinet consists of the heads of every official organization including fraternities, publications, clubs, and classes.

Among Student Cabinet duties are the appointment of the members of the Judicial Court; the function of advisory board to the Director of Student Activities; and the holding of a student activities meeting for freshman during orientation week.
STUDENT GOVERNMENT

The Student Government, the organization representative of the student body, is the connecting link between the administration and the student body.

This year under the leadership of Merwin Kinkade Jr., the Student Government was successful in establishing the Judicial Court. This court will be a long needed link between the students and the Administration in disciplinary matters.

The Student Government was also successful in establishing a term-paper file in the library, and they continued to exercise control over open-house, making the program an established tradition.

These were just highlights in an extremely active year of promotion and co-ordination of student affairs.

The Social Committee, usually a quiet but efficient unit of the Student Government, came into the spotlight during the year because of a dispute that threatened to leave the Institute without a spring weekend.

The Social Chairmen could not agree upon a program and Student Government wishes were abused. Spirits ran hot as the student body became involved in the dispute, but an excellent weekend finally evolved.
The Senior Class took its place this year as the Lords of the campus. Looking like wise owls after a hearty meal, the seniors gaze upon the underclassmen and reflect their own too rapid three years at Babson.

Freshman Year seems like an eternity ago when they first appeared as apprehensive, bewildered, and excited men going into the world. Soon the class of '62 began to assert their authority and became true Babson men. The year of Asian Flu, Babson Plague, and the Blizzard faded into their memory. The joyous day when the I.A. was abolished, and the time a sheep appeared beneath the sacred apple tree will not be forgotten.

Spring time found the traditional sanctuary visits suspended, and a new party place established at Morse's Pond. Mention must also be made of the ill-fated voyage to Block Island from which they almost never returned.

The years have passed quickly but will not be forgotten by the class of 1962; the class that lived them.
OFFICERS

1963 Class Officers

CLASS OF 1963

By the time the Junior Class made its appearance on the campus, the Junior Committee had sufficiently indoctrinated the freshmen to the art of "shaping up." As is traditional, the freshmen staged a damp revolt with the Junior Committee sufficiently dousing them.

The Juniors, keeping pace with their freshman year, showed class spirit athletically, socially, and on the campus. The varsity athletic squads this year were primarily composed of freshmen and juniors. The Class of '63 sponsored their annual function at the Cliff House on May 19 in Scituate. The Class had complete use of the resort's entire facilities for the whole day and enjoyed dancing to the music of a jazz band until the wee hours of the morning.

The Class of '63 was headed by Robert C. Coleman, president; Arthur M. Blank, vice-president; Ronald Resnick, treasurer; and Anthony Zabounis, secretary. Providing able leadership, these men formed a nucleus for a Class that is destined to make a lasting mark on the Babson campus.

CLASS OF 1964

The class of 1964, composed of 258 individuals, is the largest class to have entered Babson in the history of the school. Their strong bond of unity was forged during Freshmen hazing and it has not been allowed to break. Emerging victorious in the rope pull, the class has gone on to invade virtually every campus organization.

Their vigor and continuous spirit resulted in their inauguration of inter-class competitions in basketball and softball. By this action they were able to spread their enthusiasm to the rest of the campus.

Class social activity was promoted by a Twist Party at the Cambridge Boat House. The affair was highly successful and it is hoped that it will become an established tradition.

The class of '64 has a future to look forward to at the Institute, with glowing memories of an exciting first year of "college Life" behind them.

MUSIC and DRAMA
From the time the house-lights lowered and the first strains of the overture drifted forth from the orchestra, the audience knew that they were going to see the finest Winter Carnival production presented by the Babson Theater Guild. The presentation showed that it had had a great deal of preparation and work behind the scenes.

Miss Dee French’s direction was of its usual quality, and the play functioned to her credit. The Theater Guild is indeed fortunate to have such a talented person working with them.

Jack Bacon was an excellent choice for the role of the suave Emile De Becque, and aside from a little voice trouble at the start carried the part with a degree of proficiency. Lee Welling was fitting in the part of Luther Billis and can flex his stomach muscles with the best. Barry Nickerson made a “saxy” Lt. Cable. The entire cast worked hard during the show and they ran smoothly with few delays to detract from its magic.
"And the girls don't wear any tops..."

"Meet me after the show, kid..."

Since the dawn of the age of man, part of our philosophy has encompassed the idea of competition and physical fitness. Through the ages, sports have remained in the light of national interest. In keeping with this trend, Babson provides a wide range of sports designed to produce individuals capable of meeting the physical, psychological, and intellectual demands of our society.
"If I should lose, let me stand by the road and cheer as the winners go by!" — Bradly
Soccer

Co-captains Tomas Fernandez and Manuel Navarro plus Bob Coleman, Oscar Flores, Tony Lewis, Les Patterson and Curt Speed were the lettermen that returned to the sixty-one squad. Babson's new coach, Harry Murphy, a member of Boston's pro soccer team, the Celtics, may well have been what the team needed. Although his first season was not an overly successful one, his spirit and enthusiasm should prove indispensable in the future.

The Booters, members of the New England Intercollegiate Soccer League and the Colonial Intercollegiate Conference, added three new opponents to their list for the sixty-one season: Boston University, the University of Rhode Island, and Gordon College. The men on the squad represented nine states and five foreign countries including Mexico, Japan, Canada, Bermuda, and Venezuela.

The season was begun on October fourth preceded by a pep rally the night before. The Booters', as is obvious by their record of three wins and ten losses, unsuccessful season may be attributed to several factors. Among the foremost was a lack of student interest and participation. This factor was partially rectified by a number of men joining the squad in mid-season. There were many injuries on the team this year, this can not be helped and did hamper the team.
The October fourth game with Lowell Tech found the Booters on the short end as did their October seventh game with New England College. In both games the first half remained scoreless with Babson first to score in the latter half. The lack of student participation was felt at the offset with only thirteen men making the trip to New England. October tenth was the date of another defeat for the Booters. Brandeis was given a close battle and finally scored the winning goal in the fourth quarter. Hal Deschamps and John Gartner suffered injuries with Ed Baylow, Lee Thompson, Wayne Roberts and goalie Dan Gilmer playing an outstanding game.

On October seventeenth the Booters met defeat from Rhode Island as they did on October twenty-first by a shutout from the Colby Mules. Babson's much sought after win came on October nineteenth when the Booters beat the Terrics from Boston University in double overtime with the winning goal being scored by John Gartner.

On October twenty-second the Booters made their second trip to Maine and were defeated by the Bowdoin Polar Bears. Babson's second victory was won on October twenty-sixth from Clark University. The game was won in double overtime with a goal by John Gartner who was assisted by Les Patterson.

Babson suffered its eighth and ninth defeats to Salem State Teachers College on October thirty-first and to Nichols College on November second. November fifth was the date of the Booters' third and final victory, the opponent being Nason College. Scoring for Babson were Matt Klinke, Garry Rottenberg and Les Patterson. On November ninth the Booters played their last game. Rottenberg scored twice during the game and co-captain Fernandez reinjured his leg. The outcome of the game found Gordon College the victors by a score of 6-3.

The following men played their last game for Babson on November ninth: Manuel Navarro, Tomas Fernandez, Les Patterson, Don McKnight, John Gartner, and Dan Singer.
The week of October 29 marked the return of three lettermen to the Varsity Basketball Squad: Ed Baylow, Frank Richard, and Neal Schultz. Ed Baylow was elected captain for the season with Stephen Marshall and Bob Swan managing the squad. Coach Tom Smith began getting the men in shape for the tough season ahead of them.

December 5 marked the third defeat for the Beavers as Nason College downed them 63-54. This defeat was preceded by a loss to Bryant College in the Babson Invitational Tournament and a loss to Wentworth Institute on December 1. Pete Drigan's scoring in the first ten minutes of the game marked the only Beaver highlight.

Following Christmas Recess the Beavers returned with the squad somewhat depleted. Seven men had become ineligible including four of the starting five. The Beavers scrimmaged Fort Banks on January 10 and went down to a 75-52 defeat. The starting squad consisted of Ed Baylow, the only member of the original starting team still eligible, Mike Bellobuono, Stu Bradway, Bob Bennett, and Bob White. The latter four joined the squad at the beginning of the term.

Babson's annual Alumni game was played on January 13 with the Alumni emerging victors with a score of 79-74. Playing an outstanding game for the Alumni were Dave Patenaude '61 with 22 points and Ken Polhemus '61 with 23 points. Stu Bradway did the varsity justice with 22 points.

The Beavers were host to St. Francis College on January 16 and won their first game of the season 88-85. Captain Baylow scored with a shot from the foul line in the remaining seconds of regulation time to tie the score. Stu Bradway sparked the team during the second half while Bob White, Bob Bennett, and Neal Schultz scored in overtime to cop the victory. On January 23 the Beavers picked up a win over the Bedford Air Force Base 74-72. Bob White is credited with extremely accurate shooting during the last quarter aided by Stu Bradway and Bob Bennett under the boards. Frank Richard was instrumental on the foul line and Ed Baylow played well throughout the entire game.
Fort Devens whipped the Beavers 95-64 on January 26. Despite the height advantage of Fort Devens, Stu Bradway and Bob Bennett did well under the boards. Baylow and Bennett were high scorers for Babson with 14 points each followed by White's 12 points.

The Beaver's February 1 defeat by Windham College was their third loss in a row being preceded by losses to Fort Devens and the Boston College Freshman on January 29. Windham's outstanding team was one of the finest to visit the Babson campus in many years, and romped the Beavers 102-53. Capitalizing on the Beaver mistakes Windham led by a large margin throughout the entire game.

The Beavers met Bryant College at the Boston Garden on February 2 and scored victoriously 107-68. On February 6 the Beavers squeezed out a victory over Nichols 83-79. The somewhat victorious Beavers went down to Lowell Tech 100-77 on February 8, and to Gordon College on February 13 87-75. February 15 marked the closest squeeze for the Beavers of the season as they downed St. Francis 72-71, only to lose again to Gordon on February 24 88-80. The Beavers were badly outclassed by the Harvard University Jr. Varsity on February 24 and on March 2 with scores of 114-65 and 90-46, respectively. Babson was romped by Suffolk University on February 27 95-45 and went down to Nichols on March 1 79-54.

For the 61-62 season Bennett is credited as high scorer per game with 15.9 points, followed by Lunnie's 15.2 points, White's 13.8 points, Baylow's 11.9 points, and Bradway's 10.8 points. The Beaver's Record of 5 wins and 16 losses is not impressive, but the fact that the starting team was depleted in the beginning of the season followed by a team that had little time to practice should be considered. Next season's co-captains Ed Baylow and Bob Bennett should spirit the squad to a far better record.

Co-captains Manuel Navarro and Tomas Fernandez along with Coach George Wheeler Jr. headed the swimming team this season. The team's winless season is attributed to an excellent squad depleted by scholastic ineligibility and formidable opposition along which were the Harvard University Freshman and Tufts University.

Practice began in early November with the season officially beginning December first. The season was terminated on February twentieth with Babson suffering a close defeat by the Freshman from the University of Massachusetts.

Peter Sinnott a constant winner in the fifty yard free style, and Tomas Fernandez a constant winner in the butterfly spirited the team. Placing well throughout the season were: Charles Goldsmith in the two hundred yard free style, Manuel Navarro swimming the backstroke, Marv Makofsky participating in the diving competition, and Mike Feldstein swimming in the free style events. The Medley Relay Team consisted of Navarro (backstroke), Fernandez (butterfly), and Feldstein (free style). The Free Style Relay was swam by Sinnott, Goldsmith, Smith, and Feldstein.

The 1962 squad looks promising with Charles Goldsmith and Peter Sinnott as co-captains. Returning lettermen will be Goldsmith, Sinnott, Feldstein, Smith, and Makofsky.
HOCKEY

This season Babson's Hockey Team became recognized as a varsity sport in contrast to its club status of last year. Richard Elworthy Jr., who also coached the squad last year, along with co-captains Roger Miller and Robert Mitchell led the team to a successful season. The squad was fully sponsored this year and participated in a complete schedule of seventeen games.

Babson participated in the Worcester Hockey League which includes Holy Cross, Nichols, Dean Jr. College, Fitchburg, Worcester Poly Tech, Worcester Jr., and Leicester Jr. College. Among Babson's other opponents were Salem, Boston College, Northeastern University, and Boston University.

Roger Miller, at center, Peter Godfrey, at left wing, and Robert Mitchell, at right wing, scored high for the squad. An outstanding job of defense must be attributed to the goalie, Jake Levy. Although many injuries occurred this season the men continued to battle and depicted the spirit of our varsity athletes. The managers were Les Patterson and Don Putnam.
Though this year's Varsity Tennis Team finished their season with an unsuccessful record much valuable experience was gained by the men. Heading the squad were captain Bob Riemer, coach Bob Joslin, and manager Mike Feldstein.

Next year's team will be without seniors Tad Carr, Bill Ellis, Larry Damon, and Bob Riemer, but the team's future looks bright. Returning for '63 will be newly elected captain Charles Goldsmith, and lettermen Pete Sinnott, Barry Nickerson, Bill Greenspan, and Stu Kaufman.

The Tennis Squad finished the season with a fine and hard fought victory over the University of New Hampshire, and coach Joslin is hopeful that next year's team will provide Babson with many more of these victories.
The Babson Sailing Team is a member of the New England Intercollegiate Sailing Association and competes each fall and spring against other leading schools in New England. This year the team has participated in the Oberg Trophy, a Dinghy sailing event, the Boston Dinghy Cup, the McMillan Cup Regatta, in which Babson placed first, and the Coast Guard Academy Alumni Bowl, another Dinghy event.

The team is headed by William E. Kelly-Commodore, Edmund S. Kelley-Vice Commodore, and Eric Harrison Jostrom-Secretary-Treasurer. Approximately twenty men are on the team with half sailing in varsity competition. Mr. Paul Staake, Jr. is the faculty advisor to the team whose sailing waters are at Morse's Pond in Wellesley.
Babson won its most notable sports victory in recent years by capturing the McMillen Cup on March 31-April 1. The crew consisted of Edmund S. Kelley III (Skipper), William E. Kelly, John Alexander Jensen, Eric Harrison Jostrom, Louis F. Bradley, Larry Damon, Stedman B. Armory, and Robert C. Coleman.

The crew took first place in both Saturday races and came in seventh on Sunday to give Babson a 27½ to 27 point victory over the closest competitor Princeton. Princeton placed twice and received breakdown points in the opening race because of a broken mainsail.

The cup was almost lost during the last race as the Coast Guard Academy crew was leading and if they had won would have taken college yachting's oldest prize, but at midpoint Harvard passed the Academy to cop the victory. During the final race Navy and Princeton sailed past the Academy tying Yale and the Coast Guard for third, but the Coast Guard came out in third with two fourths, and a second compared to Yale's second, fifth, and a dismasting.

Edmund S. Kelly III headed the crew with William E. Kelly serving as his mate. The crew looks hopefully towards next season and another victory. The final outcome saw Babson (1), Princeton (2), Coast Guard Academy (3), Yale (4), Navy (5), Harvard (6), R.P.I. (7), Boston University (8), Columbia (9), and Merchant Marine (10).
This season the Golf Team compiled one of the finest records of any varsity squad at Babson. Returning to the team this year were six lettermen: Bill Lunnle, Ron Rosen, Peter Lewis, Mike Barry, Paul Sloborg, and Doug Robinson. Newcomers to the team this season were Rick Mellon, Joe Hayes, and Jack Russell. Although five of the returning lettermen were seniors, the returning members of the squad for '63 should form an experienced nucleus for another strong team. Coach Tom Smith, captain Bill Lunnle, and manager Doug Whitney provided able leadership for the squad. A record of thirteen wins and three losses may be attributed to excellent balance and depth within the team. Among the formidable opposition beaten were M.I.T., Merrimack, Brandeis, Boston University, Clark University, Lowell Tech, and Bates College.

Babson's first try at competition in the Greater Boston Golf Championship proved to be a rewarding attempt. Mike Barry placed first with a score of 153 enabling him to shade M.I.T. captain Gambler by a stroke. With the help of Barry, Babson placed third in this event. Barry added to his laurels by placing second to Barry Bruce of Tufts University with a score of 75-74 in the New England Intercollegiate Golf Championship. Twenty-seven schools participated in the competition with a total of 169 contestants. Mike played brilliant golf by defeating Clem Miner the number one man from the University of Connecticut, Calvin Cook, Clark University's number one man, and Bob Morganstern of Tufts. Babson finished in a tie for twelfth with the Universities of Massachusetts and New Hampshire. The staff of the Babsonian extends best wishes to Barry in the National Collegiate Golf Championship at Durham, North Carolina.
The Ewart Memorial Swimming Trophy is awarded each year to the outstanding swimmer of Babson. This year’s recipient, Tomas B. Fernandez, is a senior who has been a member of the Varsity Swimming Team for three years, co-captain of this year’s team, and a previous winner of this award during his freshman year.

Tomas at practice
William F. Lunnie was chosen this year as the recipient of the Senior Athletic Award. The qualifications for the award are leadership, ability, desire, sportsmanship, self-discipline, and determination. Lunnie was named to the Greater Boston Suburban College All-Star Basketball Squad by the sportswriters of Boston because of his outstanding ability. He was selected as a member of the New England College All-Star Squad, and participated in the Basketball Hall of Fame game at the Boston Garden. As captain of this year's outstanding Golf Team he has been an inspiring leader and consistent performer. Throughout his years at Babson he has aptly earned the title of the outstanding athlete of the Class of 1962.

Always keep your eye on the ball
Contrary to popular opinion, colleges are not the overgrown playgrounds that the “outside” pictures them as. Life is often unpleasant under rising pressures of academic efforts and something is needed to disperse the pent-up frustrations. The full-scale weekend, the “blowout,” and the just plain party allow for a little “fun.” Yet, to the student, the most significant contribution of any social event is the satisfaction of his need to join with his fellows in the light-hearted pursuit of intangible happiness.
“Only Solitary men know the joys of companionship.” —Rasselas
Maintaining tradition, the brotherhood of Alpha Kappa Psi again sponsored their dynamic opening to the Babson Social Calendar, the Phoenician Ball. October 7, 1961 was the magic date chosen for the event which annually surpasses all previous efforts. This year provided no exception as the Hotel Continental’s Ballroom was crowded, the air a hazy blue, and the guests thoroughly happy.

Boston’s famous Larry Cooper and his orchestra added the musical element to the evening of dancing and mirth. His music was light, gay, and a stimulating agent to several impromptu can-can routines and song fests.

The faces of Messrs. Genovese, Kriebel, and McMahon showed stress as they chose the Queen of the evening Miss Ginny McKinnon, escorted by brother Paul Dernavich. The dark hour of midnight sadly brought the end of her bright reign and a memorable event.

FALL FROLIC

Cool brisk air, women, go-carts, sun, women, and fun were the components of this year’s Fall Frolic. Babson’s charity bazaar for the United Fund met with a storm of success and student participation. The highlight of the afternoon were the go-cart races that provided an exciting and fast set of events. Appealing to the destructive and brute nature of Babson Students, S.A.M.’s smash-the-car booth proved to be the most frequented. Other important stops for the sportmen and gamblers were the Turtle Races and the Bongo Boards. Faculty members also indulged in the merrymaking by proving both victims in the sponge throwing, and participants in the other booths. The day was ended with a dance at the Parker House Roof to the music of Harry Marchard.
From the first drink to the last goodbye, Winter Weekend was a magic and enchanted time. The parties and dinners, the music of Harry Marchand and Les Elgart, and Babson's production of "South Pacific," flew by too rapidly, leaving memories that will not be easily forgotten. The Sheraton Plaza's ball room provided an elegant atmosphere for the formal dance, the Hotel Continental's relaxed feeling made it the perfect place for Elgart music.
The anxious moment before the results.

Had the Queen!
Spring Weekend began with the swinging sounds of Guy Stevens and his Syncopated Seven. The opening was held in the ballroom of the Hotel Bradford and the evening was a romantic prologue to the following day's nautical adventure. Saturday morning the buses left for Providence with a motley and sleepy crew aboard. Upon arrival at Narragansett Bay the "hung-over Beavers and Beaverettes" boarded their stately ship for a voyage around the Bay, carefully avoiding any chance to go near the ocean. The boat docked at Rocky Point Amusement Park for added fun. A place had been set up for dancing and drinking and the energetic Babsonians spent an afternoon of carnival entertainment. A few of the more ambitious students even ventured to seek even better forms of entertainment such as fighting.

The Boat trip back to Providence was equally as joyous as the outgoing trip and the Art Tones continued their jazz and dance music. A brief rest was provided by the bus trip back to school and then, the rush was resumed. The Storyville room at the Bradford was the scene of an informal twist party to the music of the famous Dappers.

Sunday, the day of rest, was also included. Open House was held in the Dorms and provided a chance to slow down after a “capital weekend.”

On September 20, 1961 Babson welcomed its forty-second freshman class. A buffet dinner was served to the newly arrived Babsonian and his parents with the faculty on hand to greet the new arrivals. Freshman Orientation lasted from September 20 through September 25 consisting of meetings, aptitude and personality tests, as well as athletic and social events including a mixer held in the Knight Auditorium with Framingham State Teachers College on Saturday, September 23.

Freshman "Hazing" officially began on September 21 as the freshmen doned their traditional "Green" ties, their names tags, their business attire, and became subject to the mass brutality of the Junior Committee. As the upper classman arrived on campus the already disheartened underling became even more disillusioned. Between being called "Creep" and responding "Yes, Sir," opening and closing doors, and running assorted errands the freshmen attempted a revolt that became a damp attempt. The freshmen finally won their freedom soaking the junior class in the annual rope pull.

Among the students of a college there is usually a strong feeling of comradeship. This spirit is essential to the preservation and well-being of the institution. The bond is increased with memberships in clubs and other organizations, but it exists at its strongest within the fraternity. The fraternity enables the member to know his “brothers” intimately and to work together for the good of the organization and the school.

Babson's honor fraternity, Blue Key, had another successful year. Blue Key supervises the Student Government elections, sponsors the mayoralty campaign, ushers at all the Institute's important assembly programs, and holds the raffle for the Charity Bazaar. The selection of the freshmen advisors and the overseeing of Freshmen Orientation are also part of Blue Keys service to Babson.

who's who in american colleges and universities

To be eligible for Who's Who, a student must show the qualities of leadership and participation in school affairs and maintain a high average. Who's Who is composed of the leaders of every campus in the United States, and election to membership is an honor to the candidate and to the School. Babson has always been represented with several students being elected each year.

Founded at Babson Institute in 1961, Beta Gamma Scholarship Society, Gordon M. Trim Chapter, the national honorary business fraternity, encourages scholarship in institutions devoted to business.

Only those students who are in the top twenty percent of the graduate school, the top ten percent of the senior class, and the top two percent of the junior class are the candidates considered for membership. The men who met the strict qualifications were elected to the society by a permanent committee composed of the President, the Dean of Faculty, and the Dean of the Graduate School.

The men elected this year received their shingles at Honors Day and were honored at a dinner at the Pillar House.

Again in 1962, Alpha Delta Sigma presented a varied program consisting of business, social, and charitable functions. The major function of the Fall Term was the Annual Christmas Party for the children of a nearby orphan's home. The party consisted of games, songs, refreshments, and of course, a visit from Santa Claus. This party is only one of the events conducted by Alpha Delta Sigma to strengthen relations between the school and the community.

This year's Robert Murray Memorial Advertising Contest was the largest in its history, and the quality of the entries each year appear to be improving. This year's winner was John C. Fast '62.

The year closed with the Second Annual Conference on Advertising, and participants in the conference came from all over the New England area. The speakers were lured to Babson from every part of the country. This Second Annual Conference was an even greater success than last year, and the Brotherhood is looking forward to an even more successful year in 1963.

Once again the brothers of the Gamma Nu Chapter of Alpha Kappa Psi Fraternity can be proud that their chapter has assumed a dual-leadership role; one, on the Babson Campus; and two, throughout its 121 National Chapters.

The fraternity is honored that this year as well as in the last five out of six years, it has been selected by its national headquarters to be the leading chapter in the entire country.

The Gamma Nu Chapter has among its objectives, the furtherance of the welfare of the members, and the fostering of the academic ideals of the Institute in the fields of Finance, Commerce, and Accounting. In the past year these objectives have been furthered by the winning of the interfraternity Scholarship Award, and the Athletic Trophy. Among the highlights of this year’s activities was the initiation of the Honorable Senator Saltonstall into the brotherhood as an honorary member.

Delta Sigma Pi opened their Winter social calendar with their traditional Fraternity Anniversary Party, which was attended by both faculty and student brothers. Winter term meant “rushing,” and Delta Sig managed to get a top notch pledge class, who were later initiated into the brotherhood.

Since business is Delta Sigma Pi’s interest, there were many field trips and speakers from all phases of the business world.

With the approach of Spring Weekend, the men of S.A.M., A.K.Psi., and Delta Sig. gathered in secret parleys to organize campaigns for their respective Mayorality candidates. Thus commenced Mayorality, the hilarious and zany contest enjoyed by the entire student body.

Active Campaigning began one week before Spring Weekend with skits given at lunch and dinner in combination with the appearance of strangely clad creatures in the class rooms. Throughout the week the tempo quickened towards the Thurs-night finale. An estimated crowd of over 500 persons came to watch the final battle of the candidates for supremacy on the Babson Campus.
Presented in the 1962 Mayoralty were: Alan Schwartz as Mr. T. W. Ister, sponsored by Alpha Kappa Psi; Delta Sigma Pi's Tony Zaloumis as C. Gar Butts; and Nestor Lao as the Society for the Advancement of Management's Maharajah Hili Silliassi.
S.A.M.'s Hii Siliassi led the evening off with a presentation highlighted by High Priest Jeff Zack's antics followed by Hili in a sparkling "Sing Along with Hili" session. Following next on the Program was Delta Sig's C. Gar Butts.

C. Gar showed a movie of the more interesting aspects of Boston life such as visiting Scollay Square's famous institutions, directing traffic at Haymarket Square, and sneaking into the "burly."

The evening's final presentation was by A.K.Fal's T. W. Ister. In this skit the faculty received its annual buffeting in imitations of selected instructors. The brothers managed to entice Mr. Peter Black and Mr. Winch to take part in a twist session.

Friday's election proclaimed Hili Siliassi the victor, and Mayor of Babson's Spring Weekend. The contest was close, and each candidate deserves congratulations.
As the twig is inclined so grows the tree. Education is the twig, the student is the tree. The twig can never be fully grown until its decay. Education is not an end, it is not just a brief interlude in the transgressions of life; but rather a beginning, a rude awakening, a thirst that can never be quenched. The shell is open, the seed has been planted; if the pearl is to form, it must be nurtured.

Founders Day

Each year the students, faculty, and staff gather to honor Roger Webber Babson, beloved founder and friend of Babson Institute. The event is an effort on the part of the Institute to express its gratitude to Mr. Babson for his contributions to the fields of higher education and business. It is through the foresight and initiative of great men that the future is determined, Mr. Roger Babson is one of these men.

Dr. Henry A. Kruebel, president, opened the program of the fifteenth annual observance of Founders' Day followed by the Babson Glee Club and a message from Robert P. Lynch, president of the alumni association. Newton's Laws have played a large role in the founding and workings of the Institute and it was fitting that the guest speaker, Dr. Bryce Pringle, spoke on "Newton in the Atom Era." The highlight of the day was Mr. Babson's talk on Newton's third law, the law of action and reaction.

And the third stock......

Action and reaction.

Future Statisticians

On May 24, 1962, Babson Institute held its annual Honors Day at Knight Auditorium. Introductory remarks by President Kriebel were followed by the Honors’ Day Address delivered by Descom D. Hoagland III, Class of 1962. Athletic, Scholarship, Fraternity, Club, Memorial, and Student Activities Awards were presented to deserving students. Among the new Awards given this year was the Inter-fraternity Scholarship Award won by Alpha Kappa Psi.
Commencement marks the realization of a great goal for hundreds of prospective graduates. Experiencing joy and relief at this long-awaited event, the senior may relive the anxieties and frustrations of a long collegiate career. In an atmosphere of centuries-old tradition, the student is presented with the degree that represents a faculty's confidence in his ability. From this point he must go forth to prove the merit of this confidence—and earn a living.

IN APPRECIATION

Each year this space is traditionally reserved for those individuals who have given their assistance in order that we may capture the past and provide a media through which it may be more accurately preserved.

This year it seems that the publishing of this book could not have transpired without the able assistance of certain individuals. To all these men, I would like to extend my many thanks for it is only through their contributions of time, energy, and intellect that I am able to present to you this 1962 Babsonian.

It is my hope that when looking back through this book tomorrow, next week, next month, or in the distant future, it will bring back to you a full realization of your life at BABSON INSTITUTE.
