A UNIQUE LEARNING ENVIRONMENT

In a dynamic global classroom setting, The Entrepreneur’s Boot Camp provides practical information and stresses applied learning. Participants gain a deep understanding of themselves as entrepreneurs, including the unique roles, responsibilities, actions, and priorities of founders and CEOs. Through lectures, case studies, and in-depth discussions, this program delivers the key insights needed to develop a clear understanding of how to launch and nurture a business from concept through growth.

ACTION-BASED LEARNING

The program features a carefully designed blend of lectures, group work, and action learning that focuses on assessment, feasibility, and execution of new business ideas and concepts. In addition, participants work in teams, prepare and deliver short presentations on their new business ideas, and receive direct and personalized advice from faculty members about potential risk and barriers to success.

Because the Entrepreneur’s Boot Camp is designed for high-potential entrepreneurs who are ready and committed to launch new business endeavors, participants will find themselves surrounded by like-minded individuals from around the world—professionals with work experience who are discovering and creating new opportunities. This mix of perspectives, disciplines, and experiences presents a unique opportunity to discuss, explore, and share ideas. Through focused conversations and exercises, and casual interactions, participants will gain insight from others in the classroom as well as from the faculty.
LEARN FROM THE EXPERTS

Program faculty members include distinguished academics and successful entrepreneurs who have launched and grown ventures of their own. Supplementing a faculty-led curriculum, some individual program sessions will feature business leaders with previous startup and venture capital experience.

The program is led by Babson Adjunct Lecturer Angelo Santinelli, an experienced leader and innovator in creating business strategy, marketing, and delivering results. His more than 25 years of business experience covers a broad range of disciplines and responsibilities including business development, strategic planning, M&A, IPO, private equity financing, customer service, marketing, and international operations. He served as senior vice president of marketing and business development for Shiva, a highly successful telecommunications startup that went public.
