BOSTON ATTRACTIONS

Freedom Trail 139 Tremont Street
The Freedom Trail is a 2.5-mile walk that hosts 16 sites pertaining to the Revolutionary War. You could take a costumed guided tour, or, more appealingly, download a map and follow your own itinerary. If you have limited time, concentrate on those sites in and immediately around the North End, which also is Boston’s Little Italy.

Faneuil Hall Marketplace 1 Faneuil Hall Square
In the heart of downtown Boston, and along the Freedom Trail, is Faneuil Hall Marketplace. The original Faneuil Hall dates to 1742 and the festival marketplace now encompasses the North Market, Quincy Market, and South Market buildings. Customers enjoy unique, locally loved, and nationally recognized shops while indulging in worldwide cuisine at restaurants and pubs and in the world-famous Quincy Market Colonnade. The cobblestone promenades are filled with the music and jaw-dropping routines of world-renowned street performers and musicians.

Red Sox game at Fenway Park 4 Jersey Street
There’s nothing quite like taking in a baseball game at Fenway Park, one of America’s most beloved Major League parks since it opened in 1912. And, even if the Red Sox aren’t playing, you’ll want to swing by and visit the Green Monster on one of the 50-minute tours offered daily.

Cambridge Harvard Square, Cambridge, MA 02138
A trip across the Charles River to nearby Cambridge is an experience not to miss. Home to two of the most prestigious universities in the country, Harvard and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology (MIT), Cambridge is the host to stunning architecture and an incredible diversity of restaurants and shopping that attract a mix of students, locals, and sightseers.

Museum of Fine Arts 465 Huntington Avenue
Boston’s oldest, largest, and best-known art institution, the Museum of Fine Arts houses one of the world’s most comprehensive art collections. The MFA is renowned for its Impressionist paintings, Asian and Egyptian collections, and early American art.

North End
This Italian neighborhood, Boston’s oldest, is known for its wonderful restaurants, narrow streets, and historic sights. Walk the cobblestone streets to take in the architecture and aromas of delicious food, and visit Paul Revere’s house and the Old North Church while you’re in the neighborhood.
